

Port Authority of Guam

Name: _____

Age: _____

Grade: _____

A Port is a busy place. Many different ships come in from countries across the ocean. They dock at a pier or wharf at a big terminal. They unload their cargo and take on new cargo for the return trip. Products we use every day come in cargo ships, or container ships. Ships that carry people across the ocean are called passenger liners. The pilot meets the ship and directs the docking. A tug boat works very hard. It guides the big ships to their docks and pushes barges from place to place. Which ships did you see in the Port today?
